USA Rice-Ducks Unlimited Begin RCPP Project Implementation

By USA Rice Federation

On August 10, 2015, USA Rice and Ducks Unlimited (DU) officially kicked off implementation of their Regional Conservation Partnership Program (RCPP) joint project, "Sustaining the Future of Rice", that was announced in January 2015.

RCPP is funded through the 2014 Farm Bill and administered by the USDA's Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS). The USA Rice-DU project matches private and federal funding to help pay for conservation work completed through NRCS's Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP) and Conservation Stewardship Program (CSP).

USA Rice and Ducks Unlimited were awarded $10 million in Federal funding with $6.8 million contributed by nearly 40 partner organizations and businesses.

"Our two organizations have worked very hard over the last year-and-a-half to make sure this project is a success," said Jeff Durand, a Louisiana rice grower and the USA Rice chairman of the USA Rice-Ducks Unlimited Stewardship Partnership. "It's important that as many rice farmers sign-up and submit applications as possible this year to make sure they get a chance to participate."

California rice grower and the Ducks Unlimited chairman of the partnership, Al Montna, echoed his enthusiasm for the project.

"We cannot stress enough the close relationship between waterfowl and the rice industry and how much they need each other," he said. "What's good for rice is good for ducks, and vice versa, and the RCPP is a natural fit for our vital conservation efforts. We look forward to continuing this strong, successful partnership beyond this first project."

Implementation will begin with sign-ups opening for EQIP applications for ricelands in Arkansas and Mississippi. Applications will be due to local NRCS offices in qualifying counties by October 16, 2015, to be ranked and awarded funding.

"This is a two-year project, but funding is limited and we want to ensure farmers have enough time to install the necessary EQIP practices," said Durand.

The other four states covered by the partnership, California, Louisiana, Missouri, and Texas, will begin their EQIP sign-ups later this fall. Sign-up for CSP is set to begin in each of the six rice states late in 2016.

For more information contact the NRCS at 601-965-5205 or www.nrcs.usda.gov.

September Is National Rice Month

By USA Rice Federation

September is National Rice Month, a time to celebrate the harvest of this small, but mighty grain that has captivated Americans' hearts and stomachs for more than 300 years. And this year commemorates the 25th Anniversary of National Rice Month.

Nearly 85% of the rice consumed in the United States is grown right here on family farms across the six rice-producing states: Arkansas, California, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, and Texas.

And there's more to love when you find out U.S.-grown rice is sustainable. American rice farmers have a longstanding commitment to protect and preserve natural resources. Today, U.S. rice farmers produce more rice using less land, energy, and water than they did 20 years ago. And our rice farms provide critical habitat for hundreds of species.

So this September, fill your plate with U.S.-grown rice to honor U.S. rice farmers and their dedication to producing a top quality, wholesome, and sustainable crop.

Remarkable Rice...The Foundation for Healthier Eating

Tangy Lime Rice Pudding Squares

2 cups gingersnap, crumbled
1/3 cup butter, melted
3 cups cooked medium grain rice
2 cups milk
1 14-ounce can Sweetened Condensed Milk
1/2 cup fresh lime juice
1 cup whipping cream, whipped
Lime peel, optional

Preheat oven to 350°. Combine gingersnap crumbs and melted butter in a medium bowl; stir until blended. Press mixture along bottom and sides of 13x9x2-inch baking dish. Bake for 10 minutes. Combine rice, milk and sweetened condensed milk in 2-quart saucepan. Cook over medium heat until thick and creamy (20 to 25 minutes), stirring frequently. Remove from heat and stir in lime juice. Pour filling into prepared crust; chill. Spread whipped cream over pudding. Cut into bars and garnish with lime peel, if desired.

Caramelized Onion, Smoked Gouda and Pecan Rice Tart

2 tablespoons butter
4 cups onion, sliced (about 3 large)
3 cups cooked rice
3/4 cup Parmesan cheese
3 eggs
2 cups smoked Gouda cheese, shredded
3/4 cup pecans, chopped

Preheat oven to 400°. Heat butter in large skillet over medium heat. Add onion and sauté 8 to 10 minutes, stirring periodically until browned and caramelized. Meanwhile, combine rice, Parmesan and eggs in a medium bowl. Press mixture into bottom of a 10-inch removable bottom pan. Distribute onion over crust and top with smoked Gouda and pecans. Bake in preheated oven 12 to 15 minutes, until pecans are toasted. *NOTE: To hasten caramelizing, add 2 tablespoons brown sugar to onions just as they become translucent.

Savory Spinach and Rice Casserole

Vegetable cooking spray
3 cups cooked rice
2 cups Gruyere cheese, shredded
2 cups cooked ham, chopped
2 12-ounce packages frozen spinach soufflé, thawed
2 roma tomatoes, thinly sliced

Preheat oven to 400° and coat a 13x9x2-inch baking dish with cooking spray. In a large bowl, combine rice, cheese, ham, and spinach soufflé. Pour rice mixture into baking dish; top with tomato slices. Cover with foil and bake for 15 minutes; remove foil and bake an additional 15 minutes.

Pear and Walnut Rice Salad with Blue Cheese Vinaigrette

3 cups cooked medium or long grain brown rice
1 large firm pear, cored & diced
3 medium green onions, chopped
1/2 cup walnuts, coarsely chopped & toasted*
1/3 cup blue cheese, crumbled
1/3 cup prepared vinaigrette (garlic, herb or raspberry)
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Dried cranberries (optional)

Combine all ingredients in medium bowl; toss to coat. Serve immediately over lettuce leaves and top with dried cranberries, if desired. *NOTE: To toast walnuts, do not chop before toasting. Preheat oven to 350°. Place nuts on baking sheet. Bake 5 to 10 minutes or until the nuts are golden brown. Stir or shake the pan during toasting, so the nuts brown evenly.

Lemon Velvet Chicken Rice Soup

4 14.5-ounce cans chicken broth, divided
2 large lemons, juiced and zested
3 cups cooked rice, divided
1 cup heavy cream
2 6-ounce packages precooked, grilled chicken strips, cut into 1/2-inch pieces
1/3 cup chives, chopped
Salt and ground pepper, to taste

Heat broth, reserving 1/4 cup, in 3-to-4 quart saucepan over medium heat until it comes to a simmer. Meanwhile, zest lemon peel; set aside. Juice lemons; set aside. In a food processor or blender, combine 1 1/2 cups cooked rice, heavy cream and remaining 1/4 cup broth; process until smooth. Add rice mixture, remaining cooked rice, lemon juice and chicken strips to broth. Simmer 5 to 8 minutes, or until heated through. Add chopped chives; cook 1 minute. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Garnish with lemon zest and chives, if desired.

Country Children

By Lise Foy, Director
MS Agriculture & Forestry Museum

'Country children' or 'farm kids' connotes an image of barefoot, dirty, maybe even wild, little people. Kids whose feet are so tough, they can run on a gravel road with no shoes – no problem. Kids who spend hours playing in the dirt, making mud pies, or sweating so that dust rings form in the folds of their neck, elbows, and otherwise.

I am proud to be part of this group and still practice and participate in the activities that cause the aforementioned descriptions. There are memories from every season nature provides and from every age as far back as I can remember. From dishpan sledding in the snow to catching fireflies on summer nights, it is a childhood brimming with happy memories and freedom that I long to share with my twins.

The Ag Museum provides so many experiences for kids to get a taste of farm life, both a historical perspective and comparative modern innovations.

The Heritage Center Gallery provides a look at objects from our past that were used to produce cotton and harvest timber. Interspersed throughout the exhibits are artifacts that preserve everyday farm life of our ancestors.

Small Town, Mississippi, offers a glimpse into what a quintessential early 1900's rural town would have been like. All businesses depended on each other to create commerce and trade in the community.

The Fortenberry-Parkman Farmstead, preserved in its entirety, allows visitors to immerse into a time prior to electricity, when everything was made by hand. In operation from 1860-1960, the Farmstead is a designated Mississippi Landmark that truly captures farm life of that period.

I have written about the grit of the people who lived these times. They worked hard, but there was time for play too; time for being 'country children.'

As the Ag Museum progresses toward its mission of interactive programming and living history demonstrations, interpreters will begin to be present in Small Town and the Farmstead on a more regular basis. Visitors can look forward to not only learning about blacksmithing and butter churning, but also games and activities in which 'country children' participated.

On September 18, interpreters will present a Living History demonstration in the Small Town, Mississippi, School House. Parents and children can watch an old fashioned one-room school lesson, and then partake in historical games with the school teacher. On October 31, volunteers will present a pumpkin carving demonstration during our annual Pumpkin Adventure. And, on November 21, interpreters will be seasoning cast iron cook ware at the cook shed in Small Town.

This is definitely the season to purchase your Farm Family Membership because there is so much to do at the Ag Museum this fall. Both Farm Families ($75 annually) and individual Farmer memberships ($25 annually) include unlimited visits (including special events), a Crop Card to track your loyalty points, access to special members-only programming and events and the Ag Museum Newsletter. Babysitter admission is included for Farm Families.

Anyone can be 'farm kid' at the Ag Museum.

I often share cheerful memories of growing up on a farm. It is truly Children can watch an old fashioned school lesson and then partake in historical games with the school teacher at the Small Town School House on September 18, 2015.

a blessing to have the opportunity to pass these traditions on to Katy and Josey – who are now two terrible-tuos. I have been very blessed to have served Commissioner Cindy Hyde-Smith and the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce. It has truly been a pleasure to work with such a talented and passionate staff, dedicated volunteers and our community partners to teach people about our Mississippi heritage and culture, and to share stories about farm life.

This will be my last article in the role of Executive Director of the Ag Museum. As of August 15, 2015, I will be committed 100% to family priorities - raising babies, helping with the family farm in Madison County, and spending time with Jamie on the road. This decision has not come easily because I genuinely love the Ag Museum and believe whole heartedly in our mission. Because of that, I look forward to volunteering when and however I can. And rest assured, you will be hearing from me again in this new season of life's journey; just from a different perspective.

The November 2014 fire has not stopped the Museum's effort to teach the next generation about the importance of agriculture and the innovations our ancestors developed to feed, clothe, and house themselves. Rebuilding efforts are underway, as well as continuing efforts toward the master plan renovations which began in 2013. If you would like to make a donation to the 'Raising the Barn' campaign, make checks payable to the Mississippi Agriculture Museum Foundation, 1150 Lakeland Drive, Jackson, MS 39216. Call us to learn about volunteer opportunities.

The Ag Museum is located at 1150 Lakeland Drive in Jackson and is open Monday through Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. In addition to our gallery and exhibit spaces, the Ag Museum also has room for your event, whether it's a meeting, a wedding or other special event. Call (601) 432-4500 for information.

This timber report contains aggregated individual timber sale stumpage data. Many variables, such as raw material demand, mill inventories, buyer competition, quality, topography and weather, play key roles in determining local prices. Pine Sawtimber prices are based upon a 14-inch Diameter-at-Breast-Height (DBH) log size. Pine Chip N Saw prices are based upon a 10-inch DBH log size. The stumpage prices shown here are reprinted with permission from the Timber Owner Market Guide; a bi-monthly publication of Forest2Market (www.forest2market.com).

Backyard Biosecurity

If you are a backyard or pet bird owner, you know your birds depend on you to keep them healthy. There are some basic practices you can follow to be sure you have "backyard biosecurity."

What is Backyard Biosecurity?

Backyard biosecurity means doing everything you can to protect your birds from disease such as avian influenza. As a bird owner, keeping your birds healthy is a top priority. Your birds can become sick or die from exposure to just a few unseen bacteria, viruses or parasites. In a single day, these germs can multiply and infect all of your birds. By practicing backyard biosecurity, you will help keep your birds healthy.

If you follow some basic tips and make them part of your routine, you decrease the risk of disease entering your flock and persisting in soil, droppings and debris. Practicing biosecurity is an investment in the health of your birds.

What Can I Do To Protect My Birds?

The basic biosecurity steps are:

- 1) Keep your distance. Isolate your birds from visitors and other birds.
- 2) Keep it clean. Prevent germs from spreading by cleaning shoes, tools and equipment.
- 3) Don't haul disease home. Also clean vehicles and cages.
- 4) Don't borrow disease from your neighbor. Avoid sharing tools and equipment with neighbors.
- 5) Know the warning signs of infectious bird diseases. Watch for early signs to prevent the spread of disease.
- 6) Report sick birds. Report unusual signs of disease or unexpected deaths to state officials through the Mississippi Animal Disaster Hotline at 1-888-722-3106.

Freezing Vegetables Made Easy with Simple Steps

By Brittany Jacks
MSU Ag Communications

Freezing vegetables can be a tiresome and difficult task, but the end result is always worth the effort.

Natasha Haynes, an agent in Rankin County for the Mississippi State University Extension Service, said one important step is often forgotten when freezing vegetables. Before freezing, vegetables need to be blanched, which means scalding them in boiling water before cooling them down quickly.

"Blanching stops enzyme actions, which can cause loss of flavor, color and texture," she said. "Blanching time is crucial and varies with the vegetable and size. Blanching helps to clean the surface of dirt and organisms, brightens the color and helps delay the loss of vitamins. It also wilts or softens vegetables and makes them easier to pack."

Boiling water is the easiest way to heat vegetables when freezing at home. Haynes suggested using a blancher with a blanching basket and cover. Alternatively, dipping a wire basket into a large pot with a lid will also work.

"Use a gallon of water per pound of vegetables. Put the vegetables in a basket and lower into the water. The water should begin to boil again after 1 minute. If it is not, then there are too many vegetables for the amount of water in the pot," Haynes said. "Keep heat high for the time given in the directions for the vegetable that is being frozen."

Blanching times can vary from 3-4 minutes to 2-11 minutes. Be sure to check which times are best for the vegetables being frozen.

Haynes said as soon as blanching is complete, the vegetables should be cooled quickly and thoroughly to stop the cooking process.

Before freezing vegetables, such as beans, shell them and then separate the good from the bad.

"To cool, plunge the basket of vegetables immediately into a large quantity of cold water," she said. "If ice is used, about 1 pound of ice for each pound of vegetable is needed. Cooling vegetables should take the same amount of time as blanching."

Vegetables should be drained completely after cooling. Excess moisture can cause a loss of quality when vegetables are frozen.

Pamela Redwine, an Extension agent in Yalobusha County, said selecting the container for freezing is very important.

"The type of container chosen really depends on the vegetable. Make sure that the containers are moisture-vapor resistant, durable and easy to seal and will not become brittle at low temperatures," she said. "Do not use milk containers, whipped-cream or sour-cream-type bowls, or bread wrappers."

Redwine recommended several tips useful for freezing vegetables.

"Most food requires headspace between the packed food and closure to allow for expansion as it freezes. Freeze food at 0 degrees or lower," she said. "Place packages in contact with refrigerated surfaces in the coldest part of the freezer. Leave a little space between packages so air can circulate freely. Once the food is frozen, store packages close together."

Most vegetables can be frozen, but there are a few that do not do well.

"Cabbage, celery, cress, cucumbers, endive, lettuce, parsley and radishes tend to get limp and waterlogged, developing an oxidized color," Redwine said. "Irish potatoes that are already baked or boiled also do not freeze well. If potatoes are in vegetable soup that is being frozen, omit them. They become soft and crumbly, waterlogged and mealy. Vegetable casseroles can be frozen up to four months."

Class Is in Session: Mississippi Cattlemen's College® to Be Held at Two Locations

By LeAnne L. Peters
Director of Communications
Mississippi Cattlemen's Association

Mississippi cattlemen and women won't want to miss this year's Mississippi Cattlemen's College, to be held Wednesday, September 23 at the Prairie Research Unit in Prairie, Miss. and on Thursday, September 24 at White Sand Research Unit in Poplarville, Miss.

The event, which is sponsored in part by Zoetis, will feature speakers and sessions encompassing a variety of topics important to farm and ranch owners and managers.

The event will kick off with a discussion on forages by Dr. Rocky Lemus, an associate in extension and a research professor at Mississippi State University in the plan and soil science department.

Also, speaking to producers will be Dr. Mark Alley, Mississippi native and consultant veterinarian. Dr. Alley, a former extension veterinarian for North Carolina, will discuss the importance of animal health in a beef cattle operation.

Featured speaker for the event will be Burke Teichert, former manager for Deseret Land and Cattle. He will share his five essentials of farm management. Teichert is a consultant and industry leader, who is an expert when it comes to organizing ranches to be cost-effective and efficient, with minimal labor requirements.

Among these guest speakers, producers will be able to visit with Dr. Harold Newcomb, Mississippi Cattlemen's Association (MCA) president and Colin Woodall Vice President, Government Affairs National Cattlemen's Beef Association (NCBA). Colin serves as NCBA's chief lobbyist on Capitol Hill and leads the Washington office in developing strategies to ensure that the cattle industry's voice is being heard by policy makers.

Producers interested in attending the event should register on the Mississippi Cattlemen's website, www.msccattlemen.org, or contact MCA at 601-354-8951. The event is free to the public, but registration is required for meal planning.

Mississippi Cattlemen's Association has joined with sponsors; Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS), National Grazing Lands Coalition, Mississippi State University Extension Service and Zoetis to promote and provide this important seminar series to the cattle industry across the state.

Annual Rice Event Adds Cooking Competitions

By Linda Breazeale
MSU Ag Communications

Organizers of Mississippi's 2015 Rice Tasting Luncheon are adding cooking competitions to the September 18 activities.

The well-known Delta event has provided annually more than 300 dishes prepared by rice growing families and Delta restaurants.

Health screening and nutrition booths with many exhibits and door prizes will be part of the event.

The "Think Rice Cook Off" will offer four categories: appetizer, side dish, main dish and dessert. A competitor can enter in more than one category. Contestants must be 18 years old or older and Mississippi residents. Prepared entries must be dropped off for judging between 9 a.m. and 9:45 a.m. September 18, at the Delta State University Walter Sillers Coliseum in Cleveland.

Obtain entry forms by calling the Bolivar County Extension office at 662-843-8371.

Winners will be announced during the Rice Tasting Luncheon, which begins at 11 a.m. In each category, first place winners will receive $100, second place winners will receive $75, and third place winners will receive $50. One grand prize winner will receive $300.

Laura Giaccaglia, Bolivar County Extension agent and coordinator, said the Rice Tasting Luncheon attracts over 1,000 people and this September marks the 25th National Rice Month.

Tickets for the tasting luncheon are $5 and will be sold at the door or may be purchased in advance throughout the Delta at Farm Bureau and Extension Service offices. For more information, call the Bolivar County Extension office at 662-843-8371.
